Not what they seem by Leo

James came from a wealthy family. He has good grades and a good personality. He is pretty smart; everyone wants to be like him. But sometimes people who close to him say that he is selfish, disrespects takes advantage on people's weakness and a manipulator a bully and prideful.

Our second character is names Oscar. He is a disrespectful rude and prideful tricky, crafty, and lazy. His IQ points are pretty high. These two characters were the best of childhood friends. They are now getting drafted in mid World War II. They are in a military camp and the higher ups request them to go to the trenches in the front line to do rescue.

When they got there but were too late. There were a lot of dead bodies everywhere and they found survivors they were able to escape, until the enemies found them and as we hear the deafening sound of gun fire and intensive bombing, bullets flying everywhere.

They tried to avoid the landmines and bombs, some of them got injured by the bombs. They were trying to keep away from the traps. Also, the enemy prepared for chlorine gas or mustard gas. Under the intense enemy attack, they saw their teammates fall and never stood up again.

At that moment, Oscar has the opportunity to save himself and try to take the option. But when he saw his teammates lying one by one in a pool of blood, he stopped and suddenly turned and ran bravely for the hail of bullets towards his wounded teammates.

James eventually surrendered, but he left evidence in the form of a notebook that he had something on it. Oscar picked it up and he planned report his superiors. The higher ups were shocked that Oscar was so brave, they didn't expect that he good performance. The evidence is the higher ups read the evidence it said James was actually forced to spy on them, because his family was held hostage by the enemy, he had no choice but to betray his country.

Amazon Rainforest by Hannah

In the summer holidays a little girl called Mary and her brother Jacob decided to go and visit the Amazon rainforest, so they took their boat and their camping things, and they rowed down the river.

When they got to the other side they climbed out and tied the boat up, then they decided whether to explore first or camp first and they decided let's explore first then camp and they did and they found quite a lot of animals like sloths and orangutans.

Then they saw a logger who was cutting down the trees. The story goes on Facebook, then everyone decided to save the rainforest.

Kitten Rescue by Sophie

Princess is a kind caring Pollen Puppy. On this particular day, Princess wanted to bake a dog bone cake for her siblings, but she doesn't have all the ingredients, so she picked up her basket and ambled into the Mystical Woods.

While Princess was gathering her ingredients, she heard someone crying in the bushes. Cautiously Princess approached the bushes, not knowing what to expect, she carefully moved back the branches and saw a fluffy kitten crying for its mummy "Please help me find my mummy" said Chloe kitten, "of course little one, what does she look like?" said Princess, "she has white fur, blue eyes and a beautiful fluffy tail" said Chloe kitten, "When did you last see your mummy?" said Princess, "We were walking home from the Tall Woods, when I saw a butterfly, I followed it to play when I turned my mummy was gone" said Chloe kitten, "Don't worry, we'll find your mummy" said Princess.

So, Princess and Chloe walked through the Tall Woods, but mummy was not there, they walked to Crystal Falls, but mummy was not there, they went to shining Mountain, but mummy was not there. Chloe was very sad "will we ever find my mummy?" said Chloe, "of course we will, let us try the Field of Flowers" said Princess.

As they walked to the Field of Flowers, Chloe screamed "IT'S MY MUMMY!" as she runs to hug her.

"How could I ever thank you" said Chloe's mum, "I'm happy I could help" said Princess.

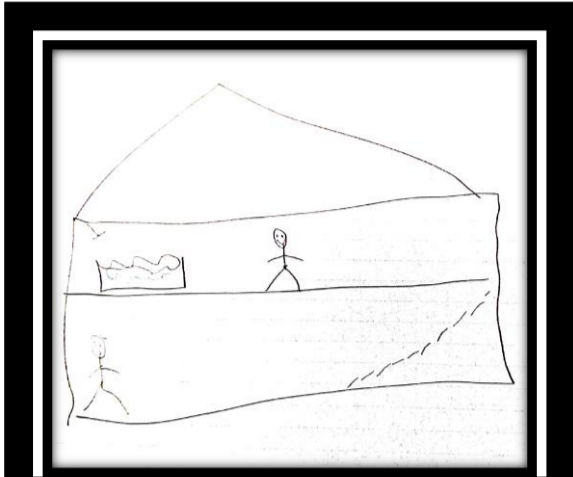

Princess proudly returned home with her ingredients and told her siblings about her good deed.

Return the world to Mother Nature by Diego

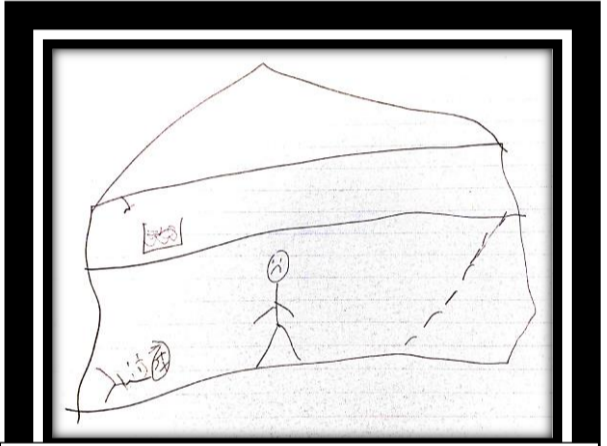

"I am home" said Diego, "good" said Mom
"you can take a shower"

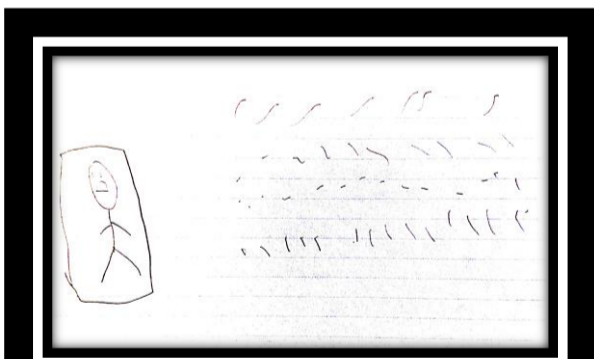

Diego take a little and then water is not coming out.

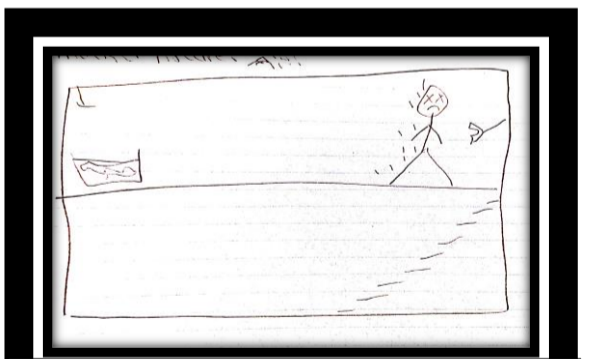

But then for the sudden an army of small men shoot out.

Diego ran from the small men then he saw Mom going to wash her hands. "Mom don't wash hand, an army of small men will come out!" but it is too late, she is dead.

Diego look out the window and he saw a giant army of small men. "Oh no, I must call 911" Soon Diego called 911. "Hello, is this the police? Hello...AHHH!!! An army of small men told me to keep showering the whole day!!! And we would flood the world."

"We need to find a way to stop the world from flooding! We need to stop the world from contaminating! We need to recycle, and we need to be good with mother nature"

TikTok Rocked by Shannon

After my 14 days of Quarantine, Kiera and Shannon used to do TikTok almost every day. One day, Donald Trump had a disagreement with China, so he wants to ban TikTok. Then the week after I woke up and I saw there was no more TikTok. Kiera and I was very sad so we decided to go to America to see Donald Trump, to tell him not to ban TikTok but because of the Covid 19 situation we could not go to America. So instead we wrote an email to Donald Trump to tell him to not ban TikTok. Then we started a campaign on social media. Then Kiera and I went on the news. One morning, TikTok came back.
